Fiona Nepo
Senior
5-9, Setter
Honolulu, Hawaii

Fiona Nepo, a 1998 candidate for National Player of the Year, will be honored tonight after becoming Nebraska's all-time career assist leader against Oklahoma.

Nepo broke the record held by current assistant coach Nikki (Stricker) Best. Nepo now has 3,872 career assists, bettering the record of 3,786. Nepo has been named the Most Valuable Player in each of the Huskers' three tournaments this fall.

Nepo is also aiming to become the first Nebraska setter to earn three All-America certificates. She earned first-team AVCA All-America honors in 1996 and second-team All-America honors in 1997.

Nepo began an outstanding career as the backup setter on the 1995 national championship squad and is now in her third year as team captain. In her first year as a starter, Nepo carved her name in the school record books with 1,653 set assists in a single season -- the most-ever in a single season.

NU hosts Longhorns, Aggies for Big 12 Showdowns

Third-ranked Huskers to tangle with Texas, Texas A&M

The Husker blocking attack ranks second in Division I with 4.0 blocks per game.

This weekend features the Big 12's marquee matchup between the No. 3 Huskers and defending Big 12 champions, No. 13 Texas. Sunday's match features Nebraska and No. 16 Texas A&M.

Nebraska enters the weekend with a perfect 16-0 record, including a 6-0 conference mark. The Huskers have dominated the competition this season, posting a 5-0 record against top-25 teams and sweeping 12 straight opponents. NU's 39-game win streak is the longest active streak in Division I.

Senior setter Fiona Nepo is making a run at 1998 National Player of the Year honors, as the quarterback of Nebraska's deadly offense. Nepo has guided the Huskers to the second-best hitting percentage in Division I with a .348 team average. Under Nepo's direction the Huskers are also the second-best blocking team in the country, averaging 4.00 blocks per game. Nepo etched her name among all-time Husker greats two weeks ago when she broke the school's career assist record held by assistant coach Nikki (Stricker) Best.

Senior middle blocker Megan Korver has been the go-to player in the Husker offense. She has been on a torrid pace as of late, leading the nation with her .470 hitting percentage. She became just the 11th player in Division I history to hit 1.000 in a match (10 kills on 10 attacks) against Iowa State. She leads the Big 12 with a .519 average against conference foes.

Sophomore Nancy Meendering has also been solid for the Huskers. She leads the team with 181 kills and 3.93 kills per game. The 6-1 outside hitter is hitting at a .324 clip and Pettit claims she is one of the hardest hitters to ever play for Nebraska.

Pettit closing in on 700th collegiate victory

Nebraska Coach Terry Pettit enters the weekend needing just two victories to notch the 700th victory of his career and one win for his 650th Husker victory. In his 22nd season at the helm of the Husker volleyball program, Pettit sports a career record of 698-147 (.826). With his 650th Husker victory, Pettit will become just the fifth coach to win 650 Division I matches. He joins Andy Banachowski (UCLA), Elaine Michaelis (Brigham Young), Marilyn Nolen (St. Louis), Barbara Viera (Deleware) and Dave Shoji (Hawaii) as the only other coaches to reach the 650 mark.

Nebraska Coach Terry Pettit enters the weekend needing just two wins to reach his 700th collegiate coaching victory.

Pettit has been named the National Coach of the Year by the American Volleyball Coaches Association twice (1986, 1994), and has garnered conference coach of the year honors eight times - most recently in 1996. His teams have advanced to 16 consecutive NCAA tournaments, while his 1995 squad claimed the program's first-ever national title. During his 21-year tenure, he has guided 16 Husker athletes to 31 All-America certificates.

Texas (12-2, 6-0 Big 12)

The No. 13 Longhorns are led by three-time All-American Demetria Sance. Sance, a 6-0 senior outside hitter, is Texas' National Player of the Year Candidate after earning 1997 Big 12 Player of the Year honors. Sance leads Texas with 215 kills and 209 digs. The AVCA National Player of the week two weeks ago, Sance is hitting for a .335 average while averaging 0.92 blocks per game.

Texas enters the weekend with a seven-match win streak and a 6-1 record against top-25 opponents. Texas' two losses are to Illinois, 3-2, (now ranked No. 19) and then-No. 10 Florida, 3-1.

While Sance has garnered the majority of the ink this fall, she has several deadly counterparts. Erin Aldrich, a 6-2 junior middle blocker, and Katie Austin, a 6-2 senior outside hitter, each have over 150 kills this season. Jill Gremmel has taken over the setting duties for the Longhorns this season. The 5-11 sophomore has 630 assists and 30 blocks this season.

The Longhorns are under the direction of Jim Moore (Cal State Long Beach, 1980). Moore is in his second season at the helm of the Texas program sporting a record of 37-9. His all-time collegiate record stands at 221-98. His previous coaching stints included a three-year stay at Kansas State and five years at Division II Northern Michigan.

Nebraska vs. Texas: While this will be just the 22nd meeting between the Longhorns and Huskers, this young series has already developed into a strong rivalry. Texas unseated the Huskers for the conference championship last season. The Huskers split with Texas last season, with each team winning its home match. Texas won the first meeting in Austin, 15-6, 15-6, 16-14. The Huskers avenged their earlier loss with a 17-15, 15-6, 14-16, 15-10 victory to close out the regular season. Texas claimed the Big 12 title. Texas defeated Stephen F. Austin and South Carolina in the NCAA tournament before falling to UC Santa Barbara in the NCAA Mountain Regional.

Nebraska has won six of the last seven meetings against Texas. But the most memorable meeting between the two schools came on Dec. 16, 1995, when Nebraska rallied to down Texas for the NCAA national title, 11-15, 15-2, 15-7, 16-14. Nebraska is 6-2 against Texas at home.

Texas A&M (12-2, 5-1 Big 12)

The No. 16 Texas A&M Aggies enter the weekend with a 12-2 record and a 5-1 conference mark. The Aggies only loss came at the hands of the Longhorns. Texas A&M comes into Lincoln after defeating No. 25 Kansas State, Kansas and Oklahoma. The Aggies were at Colorado on Friday night (results unavailable at press time).

The Aggies are under the direction of sixth-year coach Laurie Corbelli. Corbelli has a 132-47 record at Texas A&M and a 232-153 career record after stints at Santa Clara and San Francisco.

Senior outside hitter Stacy Sykora is off to a fantastic start for the Aggies. The 1997 All-American leads the team with 231 kills and is averaging 6.0 kills per game against conference competition. Her .318 average is tops on the team. Sykora also leads the Aggies with 211 digs (5.02 per game).

Junior middle blocker Amber Woolsey is also having a great season. She is averaging 3.55 kills per game and has a team-leading 82 blocks.

Nebraska vs. Texas A&M: The Huskers lead this series 9-4, but have not lost to the Aggies since, Oct. 21, 1978. Nebraska has defeated the Aggies in nine straight meetings. The Aggies have taken the Huskers to four games in three of the last four meetings. Nebraska's last sweep over the Aggies came in 1996. The Aggies have never beat Nebraska in Lincoln (0-5).

Huskers off to record start

With a 15-0 start in 1998, Nebraska has won 25 straight regular season matches and has not lost a regular-season contest since falling at Colorado, 3-0, Oct. 29 last season. Overall, the Huskers have won 27 of their last 28 matches with their last loss coming at the hands of Long Beach State, 3-0, in the NCAA regional championship. The Huskers are winning in convincing fashion, posting a 45-1 game record this fall. Of Nebraska's last 27 victories, 21 have been 3-0 sweeps. Nebraska's 15-0 start is the school's best since 1994 and third-best overall. In 1994, the Huskers racked up 31 straight wins before losing in the NCAA regional finals.

A look at the Aggies

Stacy Sykora
Senior
5-10, Outside Hitter
Burleson, Texas

Sykora is the lone senior for the Aggies who have jumped out to a 12-2 start.

Sykora enters the weekend as one of the top hitters in the Big 12 conference. She was named the Big 12 Player of the Week two weeks ago averaging 5.63 kills, 6.25 digs and 1.38 blocks in a win over Kansas State and a loss to Texas.

The Burleson, Texas, native is leading the Aggies both offensively and defensively. Sykora leads a young A&M squad with 231 kills and 211 digs. She has also tallied 10 service aces and just eight receiving errors through 42 games.

A 1997 second team All-American, Sykora leads the Big 12 conference and ranks 11th in the Division I with 5.18 kills per game. Sykora also leads the conference in digs with 4.54 per game. Sykora and Nebraska's Megan Korver are the only players to lead the conference in two statistical categories.

Nebraska's top athlete most versatile contributor

by Shane Ury

Mandy Monson has always been a great athlete.

In high school, the three-sport standout from Wallace, Neb., earned all-Nebraska honors in both volleyball and basketball and was a gold medalist at the Nebraska State Track meet. One of the best female athletes to come out of Nebraska in 1996, Monson, was not only presented with the option of playing collegiate volleyball, but collegiate basketball as well.

Today Monson helps make NU one of the most physical and athletic teams in the country, but her decision to play collegiate volleyball wasn't always a lifelong dream. It wasn't until after her junior year of high school that she decided the hardwood she played on in college would only have one net, instead of two.

During the spring of 1995, Monson got involved in a club team out of Grand Island called Power Volleyball. Monson would join the best volleyball players in Midwest Nebraska on every Sunday for either practice or tournaments. Although the club season fell during a long spring of track meets, and Grand Island was no less than three hours on interstate I-80 from Wallace, Monson still found a way to enjoy volleyball on every Sunday.

"I had to drive three hours just to practice and play," Monson said. "It was probably tougher on my parents because they were the ones that had to drive early in the morning. I would usually have a track meet on Saturday and we would either leave from the track meet that night or get up at 5 a.m. on that Sunday and drive to Grand Island, Lincoln or Omaha."

And while her team, on average, would both practice and play twice a month, Monson said it was her team's athleticism that allowed them to succeed.

"Not practicing with your teammates is hard, but we were all excellent athletes so we adjusted well to each other when we played," Monson said. "I liked my club because it wasn't structured like some other clubs. We really played to have fun."

While playing for Power Volleyball at a tournament in Chicago, the Division I recruiting process began for Monson. After taking official visits to Ohio State, Clemson, South Carolina, Kansas State and Nebraska, Monson had a clear picture as to where she wanted to further pursue her athletic career.

"After my recruiting visit to Nebraska, I knew I wanted to come here," Monson said. "I really got along with the team well. Considering all of the time that you have to spend with your teammates, you really have to enjoy them to want to be around them. That's how I made my conclusion."

And it has proven to be the right decision. Monson's charisma and athleticism helped the Huskers to an undefeated start and a No. 3 national ranking.

A 6-0 outside hitter, Monson led the team with 3.25 digs per game and was third on the team with 293 kills. However, with the overabundance of depth Nebraska has been blessed with this fall, Monson has found herself in a three-way competition for playing time with All-Big 12 Candidate Jaime Krondak and 1997 Big 12 Freshman of the Year Angie Oxley.

"I think the competition is good," said Monson, who also earned first-team academic All-Big 12 honors last season. "That makes it better on the team. Once you get three people competing for the position, whoever is out there is going to do a good job."

Monson was slowed early by a strain in her MCL suffered against San Diego on Sept. 3. But Monson's return to NU's talented roster has prompted the coaches to use her athleticism and versatility on the back row, as well as outside hitter.

"I think my role is to step in wherever they need me," Monson said. I think that I am versatile enough that I can go into the back row and do a good job."

With Monson splitting time this season as an outside hitter and a defensive specialist, she is averaging 2.09 digs per game, while she has registered 24 kills on the year. More importantly though, is her ability to give Nebraska another top-notch athlete on the floor.

An exceptionally talented athlete, Mandy Monson's versatility has allowed the NU coaches to use her as an outside hitter and back-row specialist this season.

Nebraska Head Coach Terry Pettit says that Monson's athleticism is instrumental in NU's system.

"Mandy is a tremendous athlete," said head coach Terry Pettit. "Mandy's one of our best passers, blockers, attackers and ball handlers. Even though her injury limited her playing time early, as mid-season approaches, I expect her to play an important role on this team."

Playing as a true freshman in 1996, Monson appeared in 10 matches while she got the starting nod vs. Oklahoma, registering five kills. Last season, Monson was a key for Nebraska, playing in 33 matches while catching fire during the second half of conference play. In an 11-match span, she hit .353 and had a career best 19 kills and 20 digs in a victory over Texas Tech.

While Monson finds herself competing for playing time among her talented teammates this fall, she holds a valuable role, no matter what position she is playing for NU.

"When I see myself as a player, I think that I bring energy to the court, no matter what position I am playing," Monson said. "I am a person who is very passionate about the game and I'll do anything to win. That's how I see myself."

Monson stresses her desire for winning, and as NU continues to tear through the fall season, she says that both her and her teammates have had the same goal for a long time.

"Winning the national championship has been our goal since last spring," Monson said. "We had a great spring, and there is no doubt in anyone's mind that we have the potential to win it all."

Nation's top hitter leads Nebraska in title hunt

By LaTonya Sadler

Senior Megan Korver is glad to be playing volleyball at Nebraska and she is ready to bring home a national championship.

Korver's road to becoming the top weapon in Nebraska's arsenal hasn't been an easy one.

A native of Panama, Neb., she was asked to walk on at Nebraska out of high school, but instead accepted a scholarship to play in the nation's capital at George Washington University.

"I had it in the back of my mind that Nebraska is where I wanted to be, and I knew I had a tough road to take," said Korver.

Korver spent her freshman year playing volleyball for the Colonials, but it was not Nebraska.

"I liked GW as a school, but the athletic support was almost nonexistent. The coaches were great and my teammates were great, but the fan support just wasn't there. Someone once came up to me and asked me what volleyball was, and how it was played. I couldn't believe that people didn't know what volleyball was," Korver said.

Despite a standout freshman season that included earning Atlantic 10 Newcomer of the Year honors, Korver transferred to Nebraska one year after leaving her home state.

The rest is history.

"Megan is playing at an All-American level right now. She has become a very good all-around player and I'm very pleased with her season to date," Head Coach Terry Pettit said.

Korver, a 1998 All-America candidate, led the nation in hitting percentage a week ago, hitting for a .470 average. She has also established herself as one of the premier blockers in the country, ranking 10th with 1.79 blocks per game.

Korver's success has not been limited to the court, however. She is just as remarkable off the court.

The youngest of three children, Korver is very mature and very focused. From her school work to her religious beliefs to her family, Korver is on top of her game.

"Megan is very focused on her school work and personal life and it shows up in her volleyball," Pettit said.

Husker middle blocker Megan Korver is having an All-American season. The senior from Panama, Neb., leads Division I with a .470 hitting percentage and leads the Huskers with 3.96 kills and 1.79 blocks per game.

Korver's personal life is built around her strong faith in God.

"God is number one and anything I do is a reflection of him," Korver said. "God has given me the gift to play volleyball."

Her faith in God has been instilled by her two biggest role models, her grandparents.

"My grandparents are my biggest influences in my Christian life. They are a great example for me to follow," Korver said. "I look up to them and try to follow my life after them."

Korver said she owes her success to God and her family who support her throughout her athletic career.

Korver has never felt any pressure from her parents to perform athletically, despite the fact that her dad had a career with the Oakland Raiders from 1971-77 as a defensive lineman.

"My parents have always been very supportive of everything I do. When it came to athletics, my dad left it up to me to decide if I wanted to become an athlete or not," she said. "He knew how hard it was trying to pursue an athletic career."

"He didn't start playing football until he was a junior in college. He went to Texas A&M on a scholarship as a discus thrower and transferred to a small NAIA school in Orange City, Iowa, after his sophomore year. His uncle was the football coach at the school and convinced him to play football. After a successful two year career there, he was drafted out of college by the Raiders.

"Once I decided that I wanted to be an athlete, he was behind me all the way. He and my mom play a huge part in my athletic success," Korver said.

"When I have a problem with practice or a game, I can always call him and tell him what's going on, and he knows what I'm talking about. My mom also gives great support. She knows what it's like being around an athlete, and the ups and downs of playing sports," she said.

Playing at Nebraska has been a dream come true for Korver.

"Playing in the Coliseum is worth all the practice and all the hard work. The crowd knows volleyball and the people here are committed to volleyball. I love the support that we get here," Korver said.

"When I played at GW, it was not what I expected. I liked going to school there, but when it came to volleyball I wasn't happy. When you spend five hours a day practicing, or watching film or meeting with the coach you have to love what you do and I wasn't loving it," said Korver.

After agonizing over whether to stay at GW or transfer to Nebraska and walk on, Korver made her decision and became a Husker after NU won the 1995 national championship.

"When I got here and went to camp with the girls, I knew that Nebraska was the place for me and that I had made the right decision," she said.

With a 15-0 start, the Huskers are off to one of their best starts in school history. Hopes of winning another national championship are shaping into a reality.

"I didn't regret my decision to go to GW. But that year Nebraska won the national championship, I wasn't part of it. I want to win a national title this year.

"We have the team and the coaching staff to make it a reality. Coach is a great technical coach and I think he's one of the best in the nation. He's a very classy person and I like playing for someone like that," Korver said.

"My faith is in God and wherever he takes us, we'll go."

Bill Byrne

Director of Athletics

In his sixth year at Nebraska, Bill Byrne continues to lead and improve one of the nation's best athletic programs. Byrne became the 11th Nebraska Director of Athletics on June 26, 1992, replacing the legendary Bob Devaney.

He came to Nebraska following 10 successful years at the University of Oregon. Highly respected among his peers, Byrne was elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer of the College Football Association. He is a member of the NCAA Legislative Strategic Planning Cabinet and has served on the NCAA Special Committee on Marketing and Licensing and the Committee on Special Events. He has worked tirelessly to establish close ties with the NU community and Husker fans. Byrne has canvassed the state visiting with boosters to learn the needs of all Husker fans.

Byrne's leadership has kept the Huskers among the nation's elite. In fact, during the 1997-98 season, Nebraska:

- became only the second school in NCAA history to win three football national championships in a four-year span.
- recorded its fourth consecutive top 10 finish in the Sears Directors' Cup standings, with a ninth-place showing in Division I.
- won six Big 12 championships (football, women's swimming, women's gymnastics, softball, men's indoor and outdoor track).
- finished in the top 10 nationally in seven sports (men's: football, gymnastics; women's: softball, volleyball, soccer, outdoor track and bowling.

Byrne's wife, Marilyn, is the Dean of Graduate Studies in Education at Doane College and earned her Ph.D. in Higher Education Administration from NU. Game Day at Nebraska

Coliseum Crowds
Among the national leaders in attendance every season, Nebraska boasts dedicated and loyal fans. In 1997, the Huskers finished second in the nation with an average of 3,562 fans per match, drawing 60,551 total fans to 17 matches. The all-time Nebraska Coliseum record was set in 1994 when 4,670 fans saw Nebraska defeat Oklahoma, 3-0.

Standing Room Only
Fans are known to line up as much as four to five hours in advance for a chance to see their beloved Husker volleyball team in action. In 1995 against Colorado, Nebraska set a new NCAA regular-season attendance mark with 11,529 fans at the Bob Devaney Sports Center.

NCAA Tournament
The Huskers have been to the NCAA Tournament 16 consecutive times, competing in the 1986, 1989 and 1995 championship matches and the 1990 and 1996 semifinals. A frequent host of an NCAA Regional, Nebraska has advanced to the regional final 14 times since 1982.

Nebraska Volleyball Facts and Figures

- Nebraska has lead the nation in average home attendance three of the past seven seasons
- Three years ago, Nebraska set an all-time NCAA regular season attendance mark as 11,529 fans watched the Huskers defeat Colorado at the Bob Devaney Sports Center
- Nebraska has hosted the Mideast/Central Regional seven of the last nine seasons
- Four of the top-20 Coliseum attendance records were set in 1997

Nebraska's Distinguished Alumni

NU's Retired Numbers
Cathy Noth, Karen Dahlgren, Lori Endicott and Allison Weston are the only four Huskers to have their numbers retired. Noth is now in her 10th season as an assistant coach for the Huskers.

Nebraska Facilities ... Finest in the Nation

- Nebraska Coliseum
The home of the Husker Volleyball team for the past 23 seasons, the Nebraska Coliseum, constructed in 1926, was renovated in 1993 to provide a more comfortable atmosphere for coaches, players and fans. Among the additions to the Coliseum were a completely new state-of-the-art sound system, a new scoreboard, overhead lights and a new floor. Offices for coaches and administrators and a conference/media room were constructed to provide a more comfortable working environment. In 1987, the Husker locker room and "ready" room underwent a complete facelift. Hanging from the Coliseum rafters are banners celebrating Nebraska's 1995 national title, its 20 Big 12/Big Eight Championships and its 16 NCAA appearances.

A Tradition of Success

- National Rankings
The Huskers are one of only three teams to be ranked in the AVCA top 25 rankings for all 206 weeks, 186 of which have been in the top 10. In 1995, Nebraska ended the season ranked No. 1 for the second straight season, holding the top spot for 14 weeks. Only two other schools have been ranked No. 1 longer than the Huskers.

- Coaches
Head Coach Terry Pettit carries a 683-147 (.823) record into the 1998 season, his 22nd at Nebraska. He won his 650th match in 1996, becoming just the seventh active coach to do so. Long-time Assistant Coach Cathy Noth gives the program stability in her 10th season in Lincoln. At Nebraska, one can expect the very best in coaching as four former assistant coaches are now Division I head coaches.

- All-Americans
Thirty-one AVCA All-America certificates have been given to Husker players since 1982. Only Stanford can boast more. Lisa Reitsma and Fiona Nepo garnered second-team honors in 1997. Nepo could become only the fifth Husker and the first setter to earn three first- or second-team All-America certificates in a career.

Nebraska Volleyball Facts and Figures

- 20 Big Eight/Big 12 Championships
- 31 AVCA All-America certificates
- Five NCAA Final Four appearances
- 17 GTE Academic All-Americans
- 16 consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances
- 70 All-conference selections
